Daily. UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASICA NOTES

A class in Hebrew, consisting of five members, has begun work.

The Oratorical association holds its local contest March 11. The interestate contest is May 6. The seniors in law heard Commissioner Irvine of the supreme court lecture on the theme "Damages" Wednesday.

Prof. J. W. Crabtree is representing the niversity at the Association of Superinendents at Chattanooga this week. Alfred J. McClatchie, an alumnus of the miversity, has just been elected professor of agriculture and horticulture at the Uni versity of Arizona.

The first class in astronomy practice under Prof. Swezey is making a series of careful observations and calculations to determine the exact latitude of Lincoin. Petitions have been circulated among the students this week, both for and agains the annexation of Hawall. The one against annexation was headed by Prof. Caldwell. Prof. Howard Caldwell of the department of history intrieds to pursue his work upon the "Life of Henry Clay" at Harvard this summer. The volume, when completed, will be published by the University asso-ciation of Chicago. ciation of Chicago. Chancellor MacLean delivered the annual coln Business college Friday night of last week, upon the theme, "Industrial Develop-ment of Our Country." It was a strong analytical and hopeful review of the growth of American industry, the revolution effected by machinery and the present problem o aking man the master of the machine, instead of the machine master over man. The university delegates to the Student. Volunteer convention at Cleveland started last Monday. They are C. J. Allen, H. A. Tucker, J. H. Boose, W. J. Robertson, W. Bellen, Misses Walvord, Penaldson and Luli Burrows. The evangelistic and social reform spirit in the university has never been so strong as at present. Mission and uni versity extension work is actively carried on by student bands in various parts of the city, and genuine disposition shown to make university a leader in social and moral reforms, as well as in educational progress. The University of Nebraska exhibit at the Transmississippi Exposition will occupy a space of 1,920 feet. It will represent the work of twenty-two departments, including agriculture, horticulture, dairying, the sugar school, skilled carpentry, blacksmithing, electric engineering, assaying and manufac-turing processes, physical experiments, weather bureau, animal husbandry, veterin-ary science, art and music, besides the regular academic, literary and law courses. The university exhibit in itself will be a miniature representation of Nebraska energy and industry and will emphasize the leading idea of Nebraska university work—that it is a school for workers, not one merely of literary polish.

By action of the last national encampment suspended members can be reinstated by the payment of any amount of back dues not exceeding one year's dues, the amount to be determined by each post. The orders direct every post commander to appoint at once recruiting committee to get suspended mem bers back.

Attention is also called to the fact the the laws will permit the consolidation of posts in cities or towns where the interests of the order will be thus better served.

Members of the order cite as an indication of the return of good times that last week the lodge at Bellevue was reinstated. It suspecided operations a few years ago on account of the hard times. The ceremony was attended by a number of members from this city.

Triangle loige appears to have imbibed new life since Forest lodge was joined with it. Renewed interest is being exhibited by its members. The coming month is to be a busy one according to the following schedule March 3, work in the third degree; March 10, high five party; March 17, dance; March 24, work in the second rank; March 31, work n the third rank. Nebraaka lodge, No. 1, conferred the third

The o'd story of Captain Harry Wright, roop F. Ninth cavelry, and his Indian railers was revived last week during a visit to Omaha of an officer of that regiment. The story is a good one, even if it is old, and as Captein Wright is at present stationed at Fort Duchesne, Utah, he cannot retaliate if the yarn is told again. Along in the days when Chief Victoria was hold-ing forth in Arizona and New Mexico, Wright was a lieutenant, and Lieutenant Colonel Michael Cooney of the enth cavalry was a captain and at the time of the incident was the ranking efficer. Besides having the the time of ranking officer. reputation of being a first-cless soldier, Captain Cooney also had, and still has for that matter, a brogue. Lieutenant Wright had been given control of ten Indian scouts to be used in trailing Victoria and his band who has decided ability and made a prosper across the trackless deserts and over the barren mountains. "You are not serving at division hid-quarters now, Mr. Wroight," said the capain, "an' ye'll plaze make the de-tale stchyour earliest convayneince." Lieutenant Wright still insisted that his men were scouts and trallers and could only comprehend those duties.

"Thrafiers, is it?" growled the captain, "Mr. Wroight, ye will plaze come wid me." Then, addressing his orderly, Captian Cooney directed him to procure "a couple of tint pins and an axe." The procession of three marghed to the place where the captain wanted Wright's men to do duty and then Cooney said to his orderly: "Brown, throive a tint pin in there (indication), and now (walking to a point about carriege, and now (walking to a point about 200 feet away) dhroive the other wan heer. It is stated that the War department has altered its views in regard to the responsibility of officers for the loss of $203.75 from a package intended for the troops at Fort Blewn, Texas.
